THE CROMWELL TERCENTARY: APRIL 25th.

"LORD PROTECTOR OF THE COMMONWEALTH."

When the case of the King became hopeless, Charles, to save his own subjects the trouble of taking him prisoner gave himself up to the hands of the Scotch. He was then handed over to them to Parliament, by which he was brought to trial as a traitor.

England for eight years as a traitor—a traitor—traitor to the King, to the Commonwealth, to the nation, to the world.

It has been said that the death of Charles is the most important event in the history of the Commonwealth.
